DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the location beacon" in the last two lines of the claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-3, 5-10, and 12 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3, 5-10, 12-17,

19-24, and 26-28 of copending Application No. 10/710,485. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both applications are drawn to asset locating systems utilizing cellular communication, as well as GPS, central monitoring, mapping, and reporting for tracking a stolen asset.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

With respect to the two copending Applications 10/710,485, and 10/710,487 respectively, both are drawn to locating a selected asset, or isolating its position, within a cellular communication area, and both utilize primary and secondary location information for accomplishing this task. The subtle difference between the two applications is that one system receives the secondary location information from a portable transmission system, while the other receives its secondary location information from a location beacon. While the secondary location information is coming from different transmission devices, the functionality of two systems is basically the same. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, to utilize a portable transmitter, or fixed location beacon, because both are functionally equivalent and readily available systems.

Examiner's Notes

With regard to independent claims 1, 8, 15, and 22, of US Application 10/710,485 prior art fails to teach or suggest a method or system, with instructions stored on a computer readable medium, and further implemented by the computer stored thereon, wherein asset location is carried out by linking a portable transmitter to a selected asset and initiating a cellular communication from the portable transmitter to an associated device controller. Communicating to the device controller primary location information representative of a cellular area from which the cellular communication is made, and then initiating a secondary location system in accordance with the primary location information. At this point, secondary location information is then broadcast from the portable transmitter and received into a tracking system wherein, a location of the selected asset is determined, in accordance with data generated, as a function of a strength of the signal, associated with the secondary location information received therein.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
